

Falls put on show

COMBINATION OF a mild, sunny early spring afternoon and 3,000 seconds feet of water pouring over Shoshone Falls drew hundreds of visitors to Shoshone Falls Park Sunday. Picnickers had an excellent view of the thundering falls. At Peters, Twin Falls Canal Co. manager, said the display will continue at least until April 5 when better prediction of runoff will be known. (Photo by Bonnie Baird Jones.)

Laos POW release talks deadlocked

SAIGON (UPI) — Negotiations for return of the last American prisoners of war remained deadlocked today despite a statement by a North Vietnamese spokesman that the Communist Pathet Lao was prepared to release nine American POWs held in Laos.

The Pathet Lao, speaking through the North Vietnamese delegation to the Joint Military Commission (JMC), said they were prepared to "repatriate the Americans to their homeland." But they did not comply with the top American condition: to name a specific date, time and place for the release.

In a head-to-head clash that erupted last Thursday, the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong said they will not release the last group of 139 American prisoners of war held by them until the Americans send home all of their troops, including 139 Marine guards at the U.S. Embassy in Saigon.

The United States said it won't send home the rest of its troops — and under no conditions its embassy guards — until the last POWs are freed, including the nine held by the Pathet Lao. There has been little change in the situation since Thursday.

President Nixon said Sunday he had ordered a freeze on further withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam until all American prisoners are released. Wednesday is the deadline for both POW return and U.S. withdrawal under terms of the Paris cease-fire agreement.

Valley's thresher fees up

RUPERT — Commercial bean threshing prices will rise for the first time in 25 years in the Mini-Cassia area following an agreement made recently by local bean combine men.

The men agreed to raise the price to 60 cents per cwt. for commercial and to 75 cents per cwt. for contracts (garden variety). The commercial price, according to Leonard Wilson, Rupert, had not changed in 25 years, although contract prices were increased to 70 cents per cwt. in 1968.

The market price for commercial beans has increased the past two years, Wilson said.

"We all felt that maintenance, wages, fuel — all expenses are going up and it is hard to realize any profit," said Wilson. "We hope to make it (the increase) a valley wide move," he said.

Paul White, Albert Muler, Kenneth Thomas, David Gentry, Gordon Nelson and Wilson participated in the agreement.

Twin Falls area threshers reached today said no decision on a price hike has been made. There was general agreement that a rise is imminent, but perhaps less than that made by the Mini-Cassia group.

Boycott gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Support is growing across the nation for a proposed one-week boycott of meat purchases by Americans, the congressman spearheading the campaign said today.

Rep. William R. Cotter, D-Conn., also predicted there was a "very good chance" that the House would approve a 60-day freeze on food prices proposed by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex.

"I think pressure from consumers will force Congress into taking some action on food prices," Cotter told a news conference.

Supreme Court accepts wiretap violation case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide next term whether the Justice Department violated rules for obtaining wiretap evidence in an array of criminal cases while John N. Mitchell was attorney general.

The department said the procedure followed under Mitchell's tenure no longer is practiced.

The court also refused to hear an appeal by Harvard professor Samuel L. Popkin who was sent to jail for a week in November when he refused to answer questions asked by a Boston grand jury investigating disclosure of the Pentagon Papers.

Lower courts have disagreed on the wiretap issue in several dozen gambling and narcotics cases arising in New York City and Baltimore. The Supreme Court will hear arguments next fall or winter and decide in a written opinion later.

When wiretapping is used, the taps usually constitute the backbone of the evidence. Under the 1968 Odessa Conf. Act, the government may tap telephones with the consent of a federal judge after the U.S. attorney general himself or a "specially designated" assistant attorney general has authorized the tap.

The point of today's cases is that neither the attorney general — who was then John N. Mitchell — nor an assistant attorney general had done all authorizing. Some of it had been done by Mitchell's executive assistant, Sol Lindenbaum.

The 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York did not find this reason enough to reverse convictions. But the 4th U.S. Circuit in Richmond, Va., did.

The latter court said: "When government consistently transposes upon those parts of the law that do not suit its momentary purpose and seeks to justify its conduct by sophist arguments, neither respect for the law nor societal order is promoted."

The Justice Department told the high court that there are 10 cases pending in U.S. courts of appeals and 35 in federal district courts where the issue is being raised.

A second issue focuses on what have become known as the "Will Wilson letters."

Family food costs set record

Administration officials have resisted pressure for ceilings on food prices, contending that rising production will slow the upward spiral of prices at the retail level later in 1973.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, gave the administration some support Sunday when he said he opposed freezing farm prices because this "would dry up the supply and make bootleggers out of farmers." He said the food price spiral was really a question of production and that meat prices would continue high as long as the demand continues high.

The Agriculture Department report said that more than half the February increase resulted from new peaks in live cattle prices, and reports this week indicated wholesale beef prices had turned down, at least temporarily, in possible response to consumer resistance.

The market basket represents a selected quality of U.S. farm-produced foods needed to feed a theoretical "statistical household" of 3.2 persons. It does not include nonfarm foods like fish or imported products like coffee.

The market basket cost in February climbed $34 over the January annual rate of $1,375. From December to January, it jumped $37 or 2.7 percent.

The report said the January-to-February increase came from an $18 gain in returns to farmers plus a $16 boost in returns to food processors, wholesalers, transporters and retailers.

Compared to a year ago, the February market basket annual rate cost was up 11.6 percent. Of that gain $9.50 going to farmers and 15 percent $1.10 to intermediate middlemen charges.

WEST REDDING, Conn. (UPI) — Photographer Edward Steichen, whose excellence in his craft helped make it the first 20th century art form, died Sunday leaving a legacy of pictures that captured human joy and suffering the world over. He was 93.

Steichen, who was also a skilled painter and an innovator in the field of plant breeding, had been ill for several months. At his death, he was director emeritus of the New York Museum of Modern Art's Photography Collection. A photography exhibit he organized for the museum in 1955, entitled "The Family of Man," was seen by millions.

A memorial service was planned at the museum. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

His third wife, Mrs. Joanna Steichen, and Wayne Miller, an associate for 31 years, were at his bedside when he died at his home.

Born Edouard Jean Steichen in Luxembourg in 1879, he was brought to America by his mother when he was 10 months old. He grew up in Michigan and Wisconsin.

His love for art took him to Paris at the age of 21. On his way there, he stopped in New York, where the great photographer Alfred Stieglitz encouraged him to continue to work in photography.

Steichen, an outstanding photographer in his own right, was one of the first to recognize the artistic possibilities of the "new photography."

Sahlberg

TWIN FALLS — Carl John Sahlberg, 81, King City, Ore., former Twin Falls resident, died Saturday at a Portland, Ore., hospital of a short illness.

He was born Oct. 10, 1891, in Pocatello. On Dec. 14, 1920, he married Adeline Welch in Pocatello.

He was a former manager of the Twin Falls Garrett Freightlines depot and had also served the company at Boise and Portland, Ore. He was a member of the board of directors of Garrett Freightlines. He was transferred from Twin Falls to Boise in 1942 and in 1947 went to Portland, Oregon with the company.

Mr. Sahlberg was a graduate of Idaho State University. He was a pioneer member of the Portland Lions Club and a former member of the Twin Falls Rotary Club. He served as a pharmacist mate with the U.S. Navy during World War I.

He was a member of Twin Falls Lodge No. 45 AF&AM, Order of Eastern Star, Portland Royal Arch Mason and Knight Templar, Portland. He was a member of Shrine Temple El Kader, Portland.

Surviving besides his wife are two sons, Robert B. Sahlberg, Bellevue, Wash., and William L. Sahlberg, Spokane, Wash., and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at White Mortuary with Rev. Herbert Morris officiating. Graveside rites will be conducted by Twin Falls Lodge No. 45 AF&AM at Sunset Memorial Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Carson

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Alice Carson, 89, Twin Falls, a patient at the Mountain View Convalescent Center for the past two years, died Sunday.

She was born Feb. 21, 1884, in Surry County, North Carolina, a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Joyce.

She married Fred Carson on July 4, 1918, and resided in Buhl until his retirement in 1947 when they moved to Twin Falls. Mr. Carson died in Twin Falls in 1958.

She was a member of the Southern Baptist Church.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Billy Taylor Filer; one sister, Elizabeth Joyce, Twin Falls; two grandsons and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 a.m. Tuesday at White Mortuary Chapel with Rev. James Myers officiating. Final rites will be in the Buhl Cemetery.

Friends may call at White Mortuary Monday and Tuesday until 10 a.m.

JULIE HARRIS, Ren Vereen and Glynis Johns display their Tony Awards after the Sunday presentation in New York's Imperial Theater. Miss Harris won the best actress award, Vereen, best actor, and Miss Johns, best actress in a musical.

Tony Awards presented

NEW YORK (UPI) — A drama that began life 10 months ago off Broadway and then moved uptown to Times Square, and a musical that was inspired by a Swedish motion picture won the Broadway theater's top Tony Awards Sunday night as best play and best musical in the April 3, 1973-March 31, 1973 period.

The play is "That Championship Season" by Jason Miller, and the musical is "A Little Night Music" with score by Stephen Sondheim and book by Hugh Wheeler.

The major acting Tonys in drama went to Alan Bates for his work in "Butley," which is now touring after its New York run, and to Julie Harris for "The Last of Mrs. Lincoln," which closed after a short run.

In the musical field, winning stars were: Bon Vereen of "Pippin," a hit at the Winter Garden, and Glynis Johns of "A Little Night Music," a hit at the Shubert Theater.

Major John V. Lindsay was given a special plaque for his efforts in relaxing the building code to permit theaters to be built into high-rise office buildings. These such theaters have been put into use within the past year.

Miller has hit the jackpot with "That Championship Season." Producer Joseph Papp put the play on at his off-

Off-Broadway theater, the Shubert Theater.

Profit urged in RR plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rejecting nationalization as a cure-all for the plight of the nation's bankrupt Northeastern railroads, the Transportation Department today urged Congress to set up a special corporation to put the railroads back on a profit-making basis.

Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar said the "for-profit" corporation would create "one or more new railroads" from the assets of the six bankrupt railroads.

"Nationalization only means increasing subsidies and declining resource efficiency — something our nation can ill afford," Brinegar said.

Brinegar made the report in response to a request from Congress when it passed legislation Feb. 9 to bar a strike against the Penn-Central Railroad. The Penn Central as well as the Boston and Maine; Central of New Jersey; Reading; Lehigh Valley; and Erie-Lackawanna all are in bankruptcy.

Under the Transportation

Department proposal, the new corporation, whose members would be designated by the President, would design a "new rail system" for the Northeast based on economic viability.

"Quite clearly there is a healthy rail system trying to crawl out of the Northeastern wreck," Brinegar said.

Once the new core system was outlined, he said, "the corporation would negotiate with the bankrupt railroads for facilities and equipment needed to run the operation." In return, the bankrupt railroads would get stock in the new corporation.

"Nationalization only means increasing subsidies and declining resource efficiency — something our nation can ill afford," Brinegar said.

Though he barred any massive infusion of federal funds, Brinegar recommended "a period of special tax allowances" for the new corporation. But he said the government believed the major proportion of funds needed for the new corporation "can be obtained in the private capital market, precluding the need for federal financial assistance."

Violations low

SAIGON (UPI) — Saigon reported 88 Communist cease-fire violations today, the lowest number since the Jan. 20 truce came into force, but Phnom Penh officials said the tempo of fighting in Cambodia increased.

In Honolulu, American authorities said U.S. warplanes, including B-57 bombers, hit Communist targets in all parts of Cambodia. It was the 19th consecutive day of American air raids.

In Vientiane, Laotian government officials said they hope high-level Communist Pathet Lao negotiators return this week for a final peace settlement that will make the Feb. 22 cease-fire permanent.

In its report, the South Vietnam military command said Communists violated the cease-fire agreement 88 times during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today, but said it was the lowest number since the truce came into force. The previous low was 89 on Feb. 5.

In its report, the Cambodian high command said Communist forces cut Highway 4, the capital's only link with the key supply port of Kampong Som, after storming — government positions near Stung Chay, 45 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, before dawn.

Highway 4 was the country's main remaining supply line after Communist forces occupied a stretch of Highway 1, the capital's land link with Saigon, as far as the Vietnamese frontier and after frequent Communist attacks made the Mekong river insecure.

The command also reported heavy fighting along Highway 1, at a point 25 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, and the rumble of B-57s' were heard in the capital from that area throughout the night.

In Honolulu, military sources said the B-57s and other planes hit hardest at Neak Luong, 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, a vital navy base besieged by Communist forces.

IRA truce hinted

By COLIN BAKER
BELFAST (UPI) — Five men died and 11 others were wounded in the bloodiest weekend of bombs and bullets in Northern Ireland this year. An Irish Republican Army leader said Monday the IRA's Provisional wing was considering calling a truce.

Provisional leader David O'Connell told three British newsmen Sunday night that before a ceasefire can be effected, Britain must give "cast-iron guarantees" to lift the ban on the activities of Sinn Fein, the IRA's political front.

Britain must put the truce terms in writing and establish an effective liaison system between the Provisionals and the British army for peace-keeping action, he said.

O'Connell said Britain's current "hard-line attitude," shown in last week's British white paper on Northern Ireland's future, prevented an immediate truce.

"All we would welcome is that this war would be ended," O'Connell said.

But despite O'Connell's remarks, the Provisionals warned that the campaign of bombing and shooting to unite Protestant Ulster with Catholic Ireland to the south would continue.

The warning came at the close of the bloodiest weekend in Northern Ireland this year.

Magee awaits jury decision

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Brother of black revolutionary Ruchell Magee, who taught himself law during his 10 years in various prisons, will soon find out if he must spend the rest of his life behind bars for participating in the Marin County Courthouse shootings of 1970.

Evenif found innocent of the killing of Superior Court Judge Harold Haley in an ill-fated escape bid, the "other" defendant in the Angela Davis case still faces a life term from previous convictions, but a guilty verdict would deny him the possibility of parole.

Superior Court Judge Morton Calvin will issue final instructions to the six-man, six-woman jury today following the state's summation by Assistant Attorney General Albert W. Harris Jr.

The 34-year-old defendant was in a San Francisco courtroom Aug. 7, 1970, when Jonathan Jackson, younger

Tax Reform Or Trade Bill

WASHINGTON — It's a tug-of-war which will emerge first from the House Ways and Means Committee — a tax "reform" bill or the administration's still-to-be-unfurled trade measures.

Both are highly controversial; certain to encounter torrid and prolonged floor wrangles, and their final form is unpredictable.

The 25-member committee (15 Democrats, 10 Republicans) is split down the middle on which should come first — tax "reform" or tariff legislation. Even more intense are numerous differences over the scope and provisions of the two measures.

Democratic liberals, echoing McGovern's leftist tub-thumping last year, want tax "reform" acted on first. They are bent on making a bipartisan issue of the extent and nature of tax "reform" and, with their eye on next year's congressional elections, feel the sooner the better.

The Republicans and other Democrats see no reason to rush. They are inclined to favor considering the trade bill first in view of the major trade negotiations scheduled to begin in September.

The European Common Market has expressed reluctance to embark on these deliberations until the U.S. has enacted new tariff legislation.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., powerful committee chairman, has emitted conflicting signals.

Last week in interview, he indicated "hopes" to produce a tax "reform" measure by June 15 — provided in international economic-financial emergency doesn't necessitate prompt consideration of trade legislation.

That's highly significant qualification in view of current extremely uncertain world conditions — as well as the administration's priorities.

As the White House sees it, a tariff bill dealing effectively with mounting trade deficits and sagging balance-of-payments, both directly affecting U.S. employment, is of far more immediate moment than partisan-motivated "tax reform."

This will be strongly stressed in President Nixon's forthcoming trade message.

What Mills finally does is conjectural.

A devious and wily strategist, the veteran Arkansas legislator always plays his cards close to his chest. Ways and Means committee pointedly note that the published schedule of witnesses on tax "reform" runs to April 10 — just before the Easter recess. These knowledgeable members say it is highly unlikely the sharply-split committee can complete a tax measure by June 15.

In their opinion, what is likely to happen is that after the tax hearings are concluded, this thorny and partisan-sieped issue will be left aside and trade "put on the front burner."

In that event, it's possible the committee won't get back to the tax question until well into fall.

One thing can be definitely predicted regarding tax "reform" — it will not be radical or drastic or sweeping.

McGovern's clangorous electioneering demands for a wide-ranging assault on so-called "loopholes" will be completely ignored — for a number of reasons, foremost among them that the South Dakota letter advocated them. He is politically so discredited that anything he is connected with is "poison."

Another telling factor is that chairman Mills has given no indication of favoring extensive tax revision.

He has evinced interest in possible changes in four areas: capital gains; estate and gift taxes; taxation of foreign income; and "tax shelters" for investors in mining, farming, cattle-raising and real estate.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Eye Specks

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Sometimes you would describe floaters in eyes. I got one this summer and understand that I'll have it all my life. Am I apt to get more?

In most cases these floaters, or little black dots which seem to swim around in the eyes, are perfectly harmless except that, in some cases, they are a nuisance. They are called "vitreous floaters," being small specks which form in the fluidlike substance that fills the eyeball.

It is going much too far to say that you will "have it all your life" because the "bloomin' things can come and go without explanation. Whether you will get any more as time passes is just an unpredictable.

It is true that in some instances — not very many — floaters may accompany serious eye defects, but that's a far cry from saying that having floaters mean you have, or will have, any such troubles.

Safe rule is to have an eye examination. If the diagnosis is ordinary floaters, just learn not to let them worry you.

Of course this means that if my suggestion — having an eye examination — is followed, a lot of people will have such examinations and discover that nothing is seriously wrong.

However, by the time folks reach the age of having eyes were examined to see whether such dangerous conditions as glaucoma may be developing. Too many folks don't have such checkups early enough, so if floaters merely prove to be an excuse for necessary examinations, I can't see anything wrong about that.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet, "How To Control Arthritis," for which I enclose 35 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Also any booklet you may have on "osteoarthritis," as my doctor has diagnosed my ailment as that. — J.M.

Osteoarthritis, the most prevalent of the various types of arthritis (and not the worst type, either!) is discussed at length in the booklet, so you don't need a special booklet.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was told that a drug called dolophine was being used to treat heroin addicts. Have you heard anything about it? — J.P.

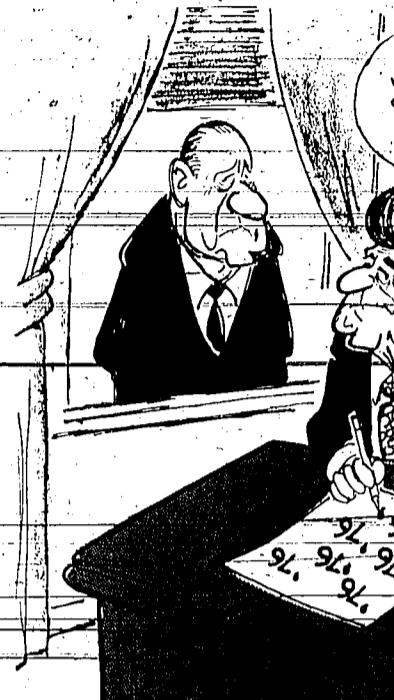

That's just one of the names used for methadone, which I'm sure you know about.

Note to Mrs. D.K.: I would take with a grain of salt stories that house plants "cause cancer." But such stories keep cropping up — without any foundation.

On Farm Subsidy

WASHINGTON — In point of fact, nobody knows whether controls on food at the farmer's level are workable — including President Nixon. But a bill proposed by Connecticut's Democratic Sen. Abraham Ribicoff to end farm subsidy programs is accompanied by statistics that deserve consideration.

Ribicoff's proposal, which also would freeze all food prices, has gone almost unnoticed in the media, probably because its chances are deemed slim to none. Farmers have a lot of political clout — indeed, 16 Senators from nine farm states already have organized into a Midwest Democratic Conference to continue the price support program as vital to "stability in American agriculture."

Just so. If business has its tax loopholes and labor unions their special prerogatives, no one can blame the farmer for wanting his. Nevertheless, Ribicoff would seem to have exploded as a myth the argument that farm subsidies give aid and comfort to the little guy on a few acres of land.

Small farmers don't benefit; large farmers do," says Ribicoff. "Farming is now a major business and should be treated as such." And he has offered figures to support his thesis, to wit:

Three-fourths of all farm sales are now made by 19 percent of all farmers. Only 7.1 percent of the nation's farms, those with sales over $40,000 a year, collect 40.3 percent of the farm subsidies. On the other hand, 41.2 percent of the farms, those with sales less than $2,500, got only 5.3 percent of federal subsidies. To me, these statistics suggest that subsidies could be helping the giant farm corporations to drive small farmers out of business.

At any rate, it might be unwise to bet that the Ribicoff bill already is as good as dead. Industrial states and big cities also have considerable political muscle, and the hue and cry from these neighborhoods over high-food prices has become a do-it-themselves representatives on Capitol Hill will ignore their peril.

Ribicoff added fuel to this urban fire with a down-to-earth example of what's going on around here. "Consider what's happened to the American breakfast," he says. "In the last year, the wholesale price of eggs is up 40 percent, wheat 57 percent, coffee 40 percent, cocoa 47 percent and bacon 48 percent."

Those are the kind of figures that caused housewives to organize nationwide a boycott of meat products during the first week of April. Chanting such slogans as "Think Fish!" and "Be for Beans," these female militants are not to be confused with Jane Fonda or Gloria Steinem; they seek only the right to feed their families without going into high-interest hock to the small loan company. The boycott, if held, may not topple the government, but it should give Washington some second thoughts about soaring food prices.

President Nixon keeps advising housewives to be more selective in their food shopping, but his words don't seem to be catching on, mostly because meat substitutes aren't all that cheap. Some fish already costs $1.98 a pound. In many localities, acut chicken costs 59 cents a pound — compared to 25 cents a year ago. One reader writes that

Agriculture Secretary Earl

Butz is living in a dream world when he tells her to buy cheese.

She notes that the cheapest cheese at her neighborhood supermarket is going for 98 whopping cents a pound.

It is going much too far to say that you will "have it all your life" because the "bloomin' things can come and go without explanation. Whether you will get any more as time passes is just an unpredictable.

Business controls asked by Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional Democrats, expressing their views in a formal statement, have called on President Nixon to scrap his "Phase III" economic program for a Phase IV that would slap tight controls on big corporations and unions.

Democratic members of the House-Senate economic committee issued their statement Sunday, saying the imposition of Phase III, which relaxed most wage and price controls, probably was "in major policy error" because it was "premature."

The Democrats also predicted a "continuing upsurge" in the economy this year, but said neither inflation nor unemployment was likely to abate as rapidly as Nixon has predicted.

Conceded a federal spending ceiling of $268 billion, which Nixon has called for, should be written into law.

Challenged Nixon's spending "mix" within that limit, proposing to freeze defense outlays at their current level and spend more for social programs.

In the House today, Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the Banking Committee scheduled the start of one week of hearings on Nixon's request for a one-year extension of his wage-price control powers to April 30, 1974.

The Senate already has approved the extension but added provisions which would require rent controls in many metropolitan areas and make several basic changes in the law.

The Banking Committee is expected to approve a rent-control provision with big city Republicans joining Democrats in supporting the provision.

Patman proposed Sunday that Congress freeze all prices and interest rates at the March 16 level and roll back rents to their Jan. 10 level. The Senate turned down similar proposals, and Patman is expected to face a battle in his committee.

Patman's proposals would not force a wage freeze, but a spokesman for the congressman observed that Nixon would still have the power to freeze wages under the act. The spokesman said Nixon has shown an inclination to control wages, and the Patman bill would only address those areas he has not adequately controlled.

Republicans on the House-Senate Economic Committee defended Nixon's decision to move into Phase III as a step in the right direction of getting away from artificial controls.

However, the Republicans offered some criticism too. They questioned the way the Soviet wheat deal was handled and asked whether these sales have had the beneficial effects on the economy which the administration claims.

The Democrats and Republicans made their comments in "The 1973 Joint Economic Report" which Patman was scheduled to file with Congress today.

Kennedy hurt

JOSEPH P. KENNEDY III, eldest son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was hospitalized Sunday after a traffic accident near the University of California campus in Berkeley. He suffered chest, skull and neck injuries, but a hospital spokesman said there were no broken bones.

Demo refuses GOP role

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's plan to make Robert F. Wagner, the good-government, fusion mayoral candidate, fall apart Sunday night when the former three-term Democratic mayor said that "under no condition will I be a candidate for mayor on the Republican line." Wagner's announcement canceled the agreement of Rockefeller and liberal party leader Alex Rose, painstakingly put together over the objections of party regulars, to give the 62-year-old former mayor the Republican-Liberal lines in the June primary. While maintaining his non-candidate's posture, Wagner, in a statement read by a spokesman, said: "The reasons for my not accepting the Republican nomination are wholly the result of the behavior of the Republican county leaders of New York City."

Less than 24-hours before the Republicans were slated to officially "give Wagner the Republican line," the former mayor said: "Watching the Republicans make their decision made clear to me that these county leaders do not understand the principle of fusion and what it could mean for good, and independent government in this city."

Spies jailed

By KENNETH L. LUCOFF
HAIFA, Israel (UPI) — A district court sentenced four Israeli Arabs and two Israeli Jews today to prison terms ranging from two to 17 years for plotting to overthrow the government.

The 17-year terms, three years short of the maximum penalty sought by the prosecution, were imposed on the Arab leader of the ring, Daud Turki, and on a former Israeli paratrooper, Ehud Ady.

Ady, 26, and mathematics teacher Pinu Vered, 28, Sunday became the first native-born Israeli Jews convicted as spies. Vered's sentence was put at 10 years.

Of the three other Arabs convicted, Anis Karawi drew a 13-year prison term, Sabhi Naram 12 years, and Simon Hadad was given five years in jail, with three years suspended.

Showdown bill slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today begins consideration of a $2.3 billion health bill designed to bring a quick showdown with the administration over health program cuts.

The bill, pushed through the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and other members, would extend for a year more than 40 health programs including hospital construction and community mental health.

Most would expire June 30 unless extended. The Senate is expected to pass the bill Tuesday. The House Public Health Committee will begin hearings on a similar bill later in the week.

President Nixon's fiscal 1974 health budget increases health spending $3.2 billion over the current fiscal year, but it cut or reduced many medical programs. The new bill would restore many of these.

Casper W. Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, told the Senate committee last week that the administration strongly opposes the bill. It said many of the programs involved are outdated and overlap.

But the committee approved it 15-1.

For emergency reasons.

Request for emigration costly for Russ chemist

MOSCOW (UPI) — Everyone drifts away when Benjamin G. Levich walks into his office. Just a year ago, before Levich sought to emigrate to Israel, colleagues flocked around his desk. He is one of the world's leading electrochemists.

"I live and work in total isolation," Levich said.

A corresponding member of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, Levich is the highest-ranking scientist among Soviet Jews whose applications for permission to emigrate to Israel have been denied repeatedly.

Levich will be 56 years old next Friday. The past year, he said, has been the hardest of his life.

Measured caution, not fear, is his watchword after one year of ostracism.

"I have forgotten what it means to be afraid," Levich said. "We cannot afford being frightened any more."

Levich, married with two sons, applied March 28, 1972, for exit visas to Israel. The decision to seek "repatriation" with the religious homeland made him the first known case of a member of the prestigious academy trying to emigrate to Israel.

The official answer was not just a simple denial.

"I was told I would never leave the country because it was not in the government's interests," he said in an interview.

"But others, now in Israel, had been told the same thing," he added with a smile.

In addition to the government's direct response, his decision to seek emigration cost Levich his professorship at Moscow University soon after he made the application. Although not fired from the research institute, he was demoted from department head to ordinary worker.

Cambodia hit again by bombers

HONOLULU (UPI) — American B-52 heavy bombers and tactical fighters bombed Cambodia again Saturday, the Pacific Command reported.

While the command only said that B-52 aircraft, including B-52s, conducted operations at the request of the Cambodian government, military sources said the bombers intensified their runs.

Sources said the bombers hit Communist positions and supply routes concentrated around the capital of Phnom Penh.

According to the sources, Communist troops have intensified their activities in the hills northwest of the capital and in the southern suburb of Takhmau.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (UPI) — Until last Tuesday, the idea of having 542 convicted criminals as neighbors did not seem to bother the residents of a three-block strip of Jefferson Avenue.

Mrs. Joanie Ray said it had always made her a little nervous that inmates in the West Virginia Penitentiary's maximum security wing could look from their cellblock into her living room window. She never let her two sons and one daughter talk with trustees working outside the prison.

But other residents did not seem to mind, and some remembered many incidents of kindness by the prisoners.

But after last week's riot, in which one inmate was killed, two others were wounded and five guards were held hostage for 26 hours, the friendly folks on Jefferson Avenue are becoming apprehensive.

And some state legislators at Charleston are talking about restoring the death penalty.

"I wish those windows could be bricked up or blocked out," said Mrs. Ray. Other residents want prison officials to restore a barbed-wire-topped chain-link fence around the prison which was removed last year, leaving barred windows the only barrier between the inmates and the row of middle-class homes 50 feet away.

"West Virginia Penitentiary," proclaims an historical marker at the prison's drab, fortress-like entrance, "Established 1866. A prison for men and women convicted of felonies until prison for women was established at Pease Springs, 1947. Capital criminals were hanged here, 1889-1950. Electric chair used until death penalty was abolished, 1965."

At least two legislators have renewed arguments in favor of pending bills to reinstitute executions.

House Minority Leader George Seibert, an opponent of capital punishment, said he was "seriously reviewing my thoughts in a limited area."

Gov. Arch Moore, who personally negotiated the hostage guards' release, said he might be inclined to consider a death penalty bill.

Moore's slain prisoner, Willie Hale, "died a very brutal death of multiple stab wounds. There was no real reason for it. The demands were so simple that there was no real cause."

AS A RESULT OF A MARCH 21 WASHINGTON, D. C. NEWS CONFERENCE BY CONGRESSMEN ROSENTHAL OF N.Y. AND WALDIE OF CALIF., THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT WAS RELEASED TO THE NEWS WIRE SERVICES:

STATEMENT FOR NEWS WIRE SERVICES

QUENTIN REYNOLDS, CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD, SAFeway STORES, INC., STATED TODAY THAT HIS COMPANY HAS THE FINEST MEAT PROGRAM IN THE COUNTRY AND THAT THE CHARGES IN WASHINGTON, D. C., BY THE INTERFAITH COMMITTEE TO AID FARM WORKERS BORDERS ON FALSEHOOD AND EXTORTION.

REYNOLDS SAID, WE WELCOME SCRUTINY OF OUR MEAT PROGRAM BY CONSUMERS AND GOVERNMENT AGENCIES ALIKE. IT APPEARS THAT THE INTERFAITH COMMITTEE TO AID FARMWORKERS HAS INTENTIONALLY MISINFORMED AND MISLEAD SOME CONGRESSIONAL REPRESENTATIVES IN THIS CURRENT ALLEGATION.

THE INTERFAITH COMMITTEE HAS JOINED WITH THE UNITED FARM WORKERS IN THEIR DEMANDS ON SAFeway AND OTHER FOOD COMPANIES TO HANDLE ONLY THEIR LETTUCE. THE TEAMSTERS UNION HAS ORGANIZED THE BULK OF THE LETTUCE WORKERS BUT THE UFW DOES NOT RECOGNIZE THEIR EFFORTS. SAFeway WHICH PURCHASES LESS THAN FOUR PERCENT OF THE LETTUCE PRODUCED, HANDLES APPROXIMATELY 80 TO 85 PERCENT UNION PRODUCED LETTUCE.

REYNOLDS ADDED THAT SAFeway DOES NOT INTEND TO SUBMIT TO EXTORTION AND THAT IT WILL DEFEND EACH CHARGE VIGOROUSLY. HE STATED THAT THIS MONTH IN A UFW COURT CASE WHICH ALSO CHARGED MEAT MISLABELING, UFW'S REQUEST FOR AN INJUNCTION WAS DENIED WITH THE COURT STATING THAT THE LAWSUIT BORDERED ON THE FRIVOLOUS AND THAT SAFeway HAD MADE A VERY SUBSTANTIAL SHOWING THAT THE MOTIVES OF UFW ARE AT BEST, SUSPECT.

THESE LATEST CHARGES ARE ANOTHER EFFORT BY THE UFW TO MISUSE THE CONGRESS AND COURTS IN AN ATTEMPT TO EXTORT AN AGREEMENT FROM MY COMPANY TO DISCONTINUE PURCHASING LETTUCE FROM GROWERS WITH TEAMSTER UNION CONTRACTS. IT IS IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF BOTH THE UNION, GROWER AND CONSUMER THAT WE NOT YIELD TO THESE THREATS, REYNOLDS SAID.

THE FOLLOWING TELEGRAM WAS SENT MARCH 21 BY MR. W. S. MITCHELL, PRESIDENT OF SAFeway STORES INCORPORATED, TO CONGRESSMEN ROSENTHAL AND WALDIE IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

YOUR PRESS CONFERENCE TODAY WHICH ALLEGES THAT SAFeway MISLABLES MEAT IS NOT ONLY ANOTHER ATTEMPT BY THE INTERFAITH COMMITTEE TO AID FARM WORKERS TO FORCE OUR COMPANY AND OTHERS TO HANDLE ONLY THEIR LETTUCE, BUT ALSO A DIRECT ATTACK ON THOSE UNIONS WHICH HANDLE MEAT PRODUCTS. THE TEAMSTER UNION HAS CONTRACTS WITH ALL BUT THREE OF THE LETTUCE GROWERS AND THE UNITED FARM WORKERS REFUSE TO ACKNOWLEDGE THIS FACT.

THIS LATEST EFFORT ON THE PART OF THE INTERFAITH COMMITTEE TO USE CONGRESSIONAL REPRESENTATIVES TO LEND STRENGTH TO THEIR EXTORTION ATTEMPT ON THIS COMPANY IS TO BE VIEWED WITH ALARM.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I may be the first 80-year-old man to ask you for advice, but I assure you I am sincere. After 57 years of a good marriage, my dear wife passed away last year. Now I would like to meet a sensible woman to invite out or invite to my home occasionally.

My friends want to fix me up with women who are much too young for me. (A man who has daughters 53 and 55 years old does not want to go out with a woman who is 40 or even 50. In fact, I don't want a woman who is under seventy!)

Jim: "We haven't discussed any tough IMP matches lately. How about some hands showing our best players in action."

Oswald: "This should encourage everyone when he sees how they go wrong. We had best leave names out so as to keep friends."

Jim: "South's four-spade contract was optimistic to say the least. But then, he didn't suspect that North had raised him with just two trumps. He ruffed the second diamond and saw immediately that he just could not bring in 10 tricks. There wasn't time to draw trumps and set up a heart trick."

Oswald: "He saw this but he didn't give up. As soon as he ruffed the second diamond he had a heart toward dummy. West ducked and now South was ready to go after trumps. He needed a 3-3 break, but that materialized and he wound up with four trumps, five clubs and one heart."

Jim: "At the other table South wound up at a reasonable two spades and made three."

Oswald: "It is easy to criticize from the sidelines and we feel that West's failure to rise with his heart ace was a serious error. West was looking at those two trumps in dummy and might well have figured out what South was up to."

meet

TWIN FALLS — The Kooky Kookers 4-H Club met Friday at the home of Brenda Sayers. Roll call was answered by drawing questions on baking cookies from a bowl and then answering the questions.

Members discussed judging cookies and how to improve errors. Mrs. Dick Sayers demonstrated making banana chip cookies which were then judged by the members.

The next meeting will be April 6 at the home of Holly Kramer. The group will be selling notes and recipe cards to raise funds for a scrapbook and special project.

Bald recipe

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. Betty Roney has a recipe for preventing baldness—fresh air. Men who are afraid they will go bald should go outdoors more, says Mrs. Roney, the owner of a London, scalp-ellipse. She said men working in stuffy offices or shops were more likely to go bald than those outdoors types. "Health needs good environment and atmosphere," she said.

Nixon urges employers to hire Viet vets

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) —

President Nixon urged American employers Saturday to welcome home returning Vietnam veterans "not only with open arms, but with open opportunities" for civilian jobs. In a statement issued less than a week before scheduled completion of the U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam, Nixon also sought to answer criticism from members of Congress and veterans groups that GIs from the Indochina war are receiving fewer benefits than veterans of World War II and Korea.

"In every area of government concerned, we are now doing more than we have ever done before to help our American veterans," the President said. Unemployment among former servicemen under 30 years of age, he said, has been "dramatically reduced" from 8.3 per cent in the last three months of 1971 to 5.7 per cent last month.

The present rate is still above the nationwide jobless figure of 5.1 per cent reported by the government for February.

"Today I call on every American employer to make the recruiting and hiring of Vietnam veterans a top priority," Nixon said. "Hiring the veteran is not just a good deed—it's a good investment. For the veteran has proven that he is a good worker and a good learner who knows the meaning of discipline and the importance of teamwork."

Blindness a handicap, not tragedy

By COULIA HASTALIS

We didn't know Steve was blind until he was about six years old.

I had never seen a blind child before. I noticed that Steve hadn't focused his eyes, but I used to think, "Well, he was premature."

Finally, though, I got worried and took him into the hospital. The doctor took no more than two seconds to look at him. You know, a doctor flashes his light—and immediately he knows. But he wouldn't turn around for the longest time—just kept examining him. And all the while I felt, I knew that something was drastically wrong.

Steve, he said, had no vision in one eye and some in the other.

"How much vision? How much?"

"Well, very little."

I was very angry—no, not angry, but overwrought: I wanted to magnify whatever this amount was.

Then the doctor got angry. "Look, I'm going to tell you something," he said. "It doesn't matter whether your son can see or not as to what kind of a person he's going to be. Now if he is going to be a healthy human being, it will be your doing. And if he is going to be an emotional cripple, it will be your doing."

When I came out of a spell of shock, I realized what was being told. I was responsible for this human being—completely and utterly.

We took Steve home, and it was—something to adjust to. However, over the years Steve's relationships with other children were always very friendly and very warm. There was one little black girl named Victoria that he was particularly fond of in kindergarten. He used to tell me he was going to marry her.

I couldn't bear it; I couldn't stand this terrible sorrow. I rushed out of the house and ran down the street like a madwoman. "My husband caught me and threw his arms around me."

"I can't bear it!" I

when he grew up.

We were very grateful for the tiny bit of vision—something like 3 percent—that Steve had in his right eye.

Next to total blindness it meant everything. I'll never forget when I was giving Steve a bath and out of the clear blue he turned to me and asked, "Mommy, what color are you?"

"I don't know, Steve," I said.

Lenten Guideposts

"What color do you think I am?" He brought his face over to me.

"Kind of—a light yellow?"

"Well, that's about it."

But he wasn't satisfied. He leaped over the tub and looked again. "No," he decided, "I think you're a dark white."

"That sounds about right, Steve," I said. He sat very right for a few moments and then turned to me. "You know, mommy, that's too bad. My friend is a pretty brown."

One afternoon when Steve was 7, he sat down at the table and told me that there must be something wrong with the lights in the classroom, because they kept flashing off and on.

I absolutely froze. I called the doctor immediately.

When he examined Steve, the doctor said there was no hope.

The retina had detached.

That night as I tucked Steve in, it took everything in me to keep from bursting into tears in front of him.

"I can't bear it!" I screamed.

"Maybe you can't," he said. "But Steve has to. That boy is going to wake up tomorrow and he's going to need you."

After becoming totally blind, Steve had many more problems, particularly in getting from place to place. He took some instruction in using a cane, and his first venture was to the barbershop venture. I cried bitterly when he left. There he goes, I thought. Showing the world he is blind.

But, do you know, on the way back, it was the first time I had seen him walk with his head up, swinging his cane and crashing into bikes, but then going around them. It was then that I realized: He isn't telling the world, "Look, I'm blind." He's telling them, "Look! I'm independent!" It was such a good feeling.

You know, people have a misguided sense of sympathy. They find blindness a tragedy.

It's a hardship, but it's not a tragedy.

I will never forget a most beautiful experience that happened on the Eve of the Assumption of the Virgin

Mary. As our family knelt to pray, I turned to Steve and said that anything he would ask in prayer would be granted.

"Anything? Anything?" he asked excitedly.

Immediately I realized what a foolish thing it was to have said:

After the service Steve wanted to tell me what he had asked for. I didn't really want to hear. I was nearly afraid to. And after promising the Holy Mother would give him anything, how could I say it anything, how could I say it might not happen?

"Well," he said almost sheepishly, "do you think she would help me get some music in braille for my flute?"

I wonder now, what do you call a miracle? If accepting yourself completely isn't the greatest thing, what is?

You can call it a miracle—I don't know. I seemed like a miracle to me at that moment.

For I thought surely he would ask for his sight.

Brazil forces beef prices down

By BERNARD BRENNER

UPI Farm Editor
WASHINGTON — UPI —
Brazilian officials, facing consumer resistance to rising living costs, have moved to force down domestic beef prices by a series of moves including a sharp cutback in the country's beef exports, an Agriculture Department report said Saturday.

But the report added that Brazilians see this as only a temporary detour on their road to continuing explosive growth which could make their country the world's biggest meat exporter by 1980.

Brazilian exports had ballooned from 18,117 tons in 1967 to a record 169,000 tons last year and shipments of 203,000 tons were planned for this year. As part of a package of inflation-control orders issued several months ago, the 1973 export goal was cut back to 145,000 tons.

Optimistic industry officials feel, however, that the government may decide later in the year to let shipments expand to close to last year's level.

Looking to the future, the Agriculture Department report said Brazilian experts believe their export value can be expanded to about 455,000 tons annually by 1980.

Already, Brazil has the world's third biggest cattle herd ranking behind the U.S. and the Soviet Union. The traditionally low productivity of the Brazilian industry is being improved, and vast unused land areas in the Amazon Basin and other parts of Brazil are being developed for use as pasture, the report added.

The U.S. last year imported 47 million pounds of beef from Brazil, all of it canned and cooked. No fresh beef can enter the U.S. from Brazil because of the threat of importing foot and mouth disease virus, officials point out.

Haste makes waste when you live it up at the smorgasbord

This year's cutback in planned Brazilian exports came after the government, of the heels of a 15 per cent rise in overall living costs last year, set a goal of holding inflation to 12 per cent this year. The rate is high by comparison with U.S. inflation, but low compared with past price trends in Brazil.

To help meet the goal, officials not only slashed imports to bolster domestic meat supplies, but drastically cut a domestic tax on live cattle. As a result of the moves, the prices paid to Brazilian cattlemen have plunged and wholesale and retail beef prices also have declined.

In January, for example, Brazilian producers were getting the equivalent of $34 per hundredweight for live cattle compared with about $29.50 a year earlier. By early February, prices paid by packers had been lowered to a ceiling of about $31.50 and on March 1 the ceiling dropped to about $29.10. American cattlemen recently have been getting about $44 a hundredweight for fattened cattle ready for slaughter.

Like U.S. cattlemen who have been facing demands for price controls, the Brazilian producers say, the cutbacks will discourage efforts to expand supply, an Agriculture Department official stationed in Brazil reported.

But although the Brazilian cattlemen are unhappy, "they are not expected to withhold beef cattle from packing plants," the report added.

Parma station to monitor fruit buds

PARMA UPI — At the urging of area fruit growers, the Parma Experiment Station of the Agricultural Extension Service is going to monitor fruit bud hardness.

The service hopes to determine where, when and how long to protect buds with smudge pot heating. Not only will the study have some environmental significance, the service said, it may help cut down costs of fruit growers.

Walter Kochan, a plant research professor, said the program depends on the principle that fruit bud hardness is as changeable as the weather.

He said when cold temperatures lower gradually, fruit bud hardness holds up and the buds can stay alive in lower temperatures. But he said when cold snaps follow warm spells, there is trouble.

"Keeping track of plant bud hardness could make a few degrees difference in when the buds need protection," he said.

That might keep the fruit rancher from starting smudge pots earlier than he has to and it might tell him when to start the pots when normally he wouldn't," Kochan said.

He said that could mean a saving to the fruit rancher in oil bills to run the heating operation as well as keeping air pollution low and giving maximum protection to the fruit buds at the same time.

Hailey man injured

KETCHUM — A Hailey man remained hospitalized in satisfactory condition this morning at Moritz Community Hospital after a pickup truck-pedestrian accident Saturday evening in Ketchum.

According to the Ketchum Police Department, Thomas Hickey, 33, the pedestrian sustained broken ribs and a broken arm in the accident.

The incident occurred about 6 p.m. Saturday on U.S. Highway 93, about 200 feet south of the state Highway 75 intersection.

A department report said a pickup driven by LaVintz Hatmaker, 63, Shoshone, was traveling south at the time of the accident. Three pedestrians walked from the curb into the traffic lane, the report said, but two stopped for the oncoming traffic.

The report said, the third — Hickey — walked into the side of the Hatmaker vehicle, causing minor damage to the vehicle's right rearview mirror.

No citations have yet been issued.

Cycle stolen in TF

TWIN FALLS — A motorcycle was reported stolen from the parking lot of the Holiday Inn Saturday night.

Chester A. Hibbert, Jr., Tacoma Wash., told police the motorcycle, a 450cc 1972 Husqvarna, was taken from the back of his pickup truck.

Hibbert described the motorcycle as a silver dirt bike with nob tires and a dented gas tank. He told police a key was not needed to operate the off-road machine.

Jerome meet set

JEROME — The Jerome School Board will have a special meeting at 8 p.m. tonight in the superintendent's office.

John Campbell, superintendent of schools said he has called the special meeting to present to the trustees a proposed 1973-74 salary schedule which includes a 5 per cent pay raise for the professional staff plus a tentative budget which includes a 10 per cent salary increase for the non professional staff.

TF break-in reported

TWIN FALLS — The LDS Institute at 526 Falls Avenue was broken into Sunday night and $10 removed from a desk drawer in an office.

Chief of Detectives Tim Qualls said today entry to the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints facility was gained by force in the rear of the building. He said no estimate of damage to the building from the forced entry has been made.

Investigation is continuing.

SV pact signed

Sister city pact signed at SV

SUN VALLEY — A sister-city pact has been sealed between Yamanouchi Machi, Japan, and Sun Valley.

The agreement was completed during formal ceremonies Thursday night in the Sun Valley Inn, with participants including Sun Valley Mayor Winton S. Gray; Rihel Saitoh, deputy mayor of Yamanouchi Machi; and G. Robert Ackerman, Sun Valley city clerk.

Yamanouchi Machi serves Shiga Heights, the Japanese National Forest resort area.

The signing capped a schedule of skiing, tours, banquets, parties and ceremonies as the 27-member delegation of officials and representatives from the Japanese city visited Sun Valley.

The first phase of the sister-city relationship was sealed in early February when a five-member official party from Sun Valley visited the Japanese ski resort.

The Valley representatives included: Gray; Sig Engle, director of skiing; Rainer Kolb, ski instructor and former Austrian ski delegate to Japan; George B. (Chip) Fisher, vice president of marketing for the Sun Valley Company Inc.; and his wife, Ellen, who served as the Sun Valley hostess. Scott Keeshng, a Sun Valley ski instructor who is spending the winter in Japan, also represented Sun Valley and acted as coordinator.

Yamanouchi Machi contains a population of about 20,000, with the resort area accommodating more than 2.5 million annual visitors.

Land purchased

HAILEY — The 2,500 acre hill property, west of Hailey, has been purchased by McCulloch Properties, Los Angeles, Calif.

According to George Crandemire, Mountain Vista, Inc., Hailey, who is serving as land agent for the California firm, a full plan for the acreage has not yet been developed and will take several months.

However, he said low cost housing may be taken into consideration.

Crandemire said preliminary discussions have been conducted with the Hailey City Council and the city Planning and Zoning Commission.

McCulloch Properties, a subsidiary of the McCulloch Corporation, are the developers of Mountain Valley and Lake Havasu, both Arizona.

BURLEY — The Cassia County School board will meet at 8 p.m. tonight at the Central School office instead of Tuesday as previously announced.

Board members' schedule conflicts have been resolved, permitting tonight's meeting.

The board will discuss bond proposals to be voted on this spring.

An earlier proposal for the reorganization of Burley grade schools has been tabled pending the outcome of bond proposal discussions.

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. — A new exchange of gunfire was reported early today on the perimeter of this Indian-occupied hamlet as Indian leaders prepared a "major and positive" announcement.

The new round of firing was reported by Harlington Wood, assistant attorney general and chief negotiator for the Justice Department. Wood told newsmen that the firing started as early as 8 p.m. (CST) from the Indian side.

The extent of the firing by each side had not been determined.

The announcement of "major and positive developments" to be made later today came from Russell Means, one of the leaders of the American Indian Movement (AIM) force which has been holding this historic hamlet for the past 27 days.

"It will concern the 1868 treaty between the government and the Sioux Indians," Means said Sunday, adding "everything depends" upon the development.

He said he could not reveal further details of the announcement. However, it was speculated that it might concern the appointment by the federal government of an Indian negotiator acceptable to the AIM leaders.

Hank Adams, Washington, D.C., a veteran of Indian legal battles and already announced as acceptable by Means, was in the area but was stymied in his bid to enter Wounded Knee by order of the Bureau of Indian Affairs police on the Pine Ridge Reservation.

The BIA issued a warrant to keep Adams off the reservation. The AIM group Sunday won at least a temporary court battle when U.S. District Judge Andrew Bogue of Rapid City, S.D., issued a temporary restraining order permitting food

Senior study slowed

TWIN FALLS — A state evaluation of Magic Valley senior citizen programs has been postponed temporarily, according to the director of the Department of Special Services.

Kay Pell, whose department includes administrative control over the Office on Aging, said, "We want them to be evaluated when they're going to come out with a good evaluation."

But Ken Wilkes, a staff member of the Office on Aging, said the evaluation had been put off because the "emotional" situation that exists precluded an objective evaluation.

He said it would be impossible to find an objective team of evaluators either within or outside of state government "at this time."

State aging Director Wil Overgaard had said earlier in the year that a state evaluative team would be moving into the Magic Valley area in February or March.

In a related development, the State Office on Aging and South Central Community Action Agency have signed an agreement to effectively prohibit direct official communications between the five individual project-sites in the Magic Valley and the state office.

The March 13 agreement reads in part, "All communications (including phone calls, letters and direct visits) between the Department of Special Services and the South Central Community Action Agency which relate to Aging matters will be limited exclusively to one staff member of each agency."

Ken Wilkes, the representative of the aging office and Marlene Butler, the CAA's designate in communications, under the agreement both said today the arrangement that had been worked out was similar to others the aging office has with other area senior citizen programs.

But Mrs. Pell confirmed that the agreement was unprecedented, although she said it could be used in the future if problems developed elsewhere, along the lines that they exist in the Magic Valley.

The agreement, which Mrs. Pell said was an "internal document" for use within state government, was written, "in order to facilitate the effective spirit of cooperation and coordination" between the agencies. It stipulates that all requests made by senior citizen groups must be made through the CAA.

It notes that "any correspondence or communications" sent to the aging office from one of the five senior citizens projects "will be referred directly to the CAA representative and will not be answered — or acknowledged — by Special Services."

Bob Russell, who signed the agreement for the anti-poverty agency, refused all comment today when asked about the agreement. His agency, by the agreement's terms, must develop a "fiscal operational manual" which provides for prior approval of all purchases under the Aging grants as a matter of routine."

According to Mrs. Pell, one of the intentions of the agreement is to facilitate the continuation of funding the senior citizen projects through the Community Action Agency in the next fiscal year.

Although the Nixon administration has announced its intentions to terminate the CAA program, Mrs. Pell said "We do not expect CAAs to be phased out in the state of Idaho. We expect them to exist in some form."

SUN VALLEY — John Clendenin, South Lake Tahoe, was named overall winner at the National Free-Style Ski Championships at Sun Valley.

In the three events, Clendenin scored second in the aerial acrobatic competition, was in an 11-way tie for sixth place in the stunt-ballet; and was in a five-way tie for ninth place in the free-style competition.

Other overall winners were Edward Ferguson, Boise, second; and Wayne Wong, Waterville, N.H., third.

Women's overall winners, who competed separately and together with the men, were first, Suzy Chaffee, Mt. Snow, Vt.; second, Penelope Street, Zephyr Cove, Calif.; and tied for third, Jackie Brock, Edmonds, Wash., and Genia Fuller, Farmington, Mass.

With an initial field of 287 competitors, the championships capped three earlier regional championships conducted at Waterville Valley, Heavenly Valley, Calif., and Vail, Colo.

The championships offered a total purse of $33,000, including a van and three cars.

Performances at each event were judged on a point system with the best overall point getter being crowned National Grand Champion and awarded a gold medal and the van.

Event winners were as follows:

Stunt-ballet; first, Floyd Wilkie, Plymouth, N.H.; and third, Manfred Kastner, Salzburg, Austria.

Free-style; first, Mike Williams, Steamboat Springs, Colo.; second, Mike King, Anchorage, Alaska; and third, Mike Maeser, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Aerial-acrobatic; first Ferguson; second Clendenin; and third Kastner.

GLENNS FERRY mixed chorus, under the direction of Dorothy Nichols, performs at the District IV Music Festival. Held at Wood River High School, the event included music students from 14 area high schools.

Wildlife president calls for involvement

With a call for unity, awareness and involvement in maintaining Idaho's high quality of living, Jim Felton, Rupert, assumed the presidency of the Idaho Wildlife Federation in its final state session Sunday morning.

Felton, who moved to Rupert from Lewiston in January, predicted drastic changes in Idaho fish and hunting laws as population increases and enforcement reduces habitat. He announced the theme for next year's convention, slated for Lewiston, will be "Population growth — its effect on you and your resources."

Felton also announced his wife would become the federation secretary-treasurer.

because we've always worked close together."

Dick Schwarz, Idaho Falls, after two days of behind the scenes struggles, was named vice president, and immediately promised a vigorous defense of Idaho's resources. Up to the point of election, the vice president choice seemed up in the air. Schwarz had withdrawn his name from consideration Saturday night.

The group gave the Idaho fish and game department and the state commission a vote of confidence at the end of a list of resolutions adopted.

These included:

— Request for cooperation for predator control under a three-pronged system:

— Requesting state flood plain zoning on all Idaho streams to preclude housing within the high watermarks and oppose structural flood control measures.

— Support land planning at all levels of government.

— Asking the state legislature to recognize recreational and fishing uses as beneficial on Idaho streams as a basis for establishing minimum stream flows; and require all drainages and siphons pouring affluent into Idaho streams, unless specifically exempted by responsible government agencies, have their outlets above the high water line.

— National enactment of an organic act as policy guidelines for the Bureau of Land Management.

— Support reclassifying of the Salmon — breaks — as wilderness area.

— All watershed management include adequate habitat and recreation consideration.

— Public hearings be set on the net of all public lands to show justification of the sale and proposed use of land after sale.

— Controlling livestock grazing allotments on big game winter ranges.

— Oppose diversion of water from one basin to another.

— Goose season on American Falls reservoir run concurrently with the seasons — in the neighboring mallard bonus area, with a daily bag limit of two.

— Hiring a full-time waterfowl biologist for American Falls reservoir.

— Restrict snowmobiling in designated big game wintering areas.

— Evaluate the Idaho steelhead program to provide more equitable season for all parts of the state.

— Establishing big game seasons on basis of herd census and browse transects reading, support use of harvesting as a management tool and demand the legislature respect the commission's duty to set hunting regulations and dates.

— Asking environmental impact statement on all timber sales considered by governmental agencies on public land.

— Urge magistrates to assess adequate funds in fish and game law violations and urge them to revoke hunting, fishing privileges as a further deterrent.

— Require all persons born after Jan. 1, 1955, to complete a hunter safety training class before being issued a hunting license.

Collecting the $15,000 winner's purse, "the most money I've ever won" in 13 years on the tour, she said, "I feel it's a super accomplishment for me, considering my condition and the course."

She reported she carried a jar of honey in her bag for "instant energy" because she still tires quickly as a result of her illness.

Only three others in the select-16-finalists managed to break par-72. Joyce Kazmierski, seeded only 21st when the tourney began, came in second with a three-under 70. Gloria Ehrhart and the veteran Mickey Wright tied for third with 71s.

The six-foot-three Miss Mann, tallest of the touring lady professionals, recovered only recently from a three-month bout with mononucleosis and rejoined the tour three weeks ago with a new partner.

Virginia Tech upsets Irish for title

Virginia Tech celebrates

Memphis State meets UCLA for championship

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Who's afraid of the big bad Walton? Apparently not Memphis State. Coach Gene Bartow says he plans to stick with the same style of play against UCLA in Monday night's NCAA championship game that the "Tigers" used Saturday in beating Providence, 98-85, in the semifinals.

"We like to jam it inside ... and that's what we do best," says Bartow. "and we'll not change a thing Monday night."

That means the Tigers plan on challenging 6-foot-11 Bill Walton in the middle. Walton, college basketball's player of the year, was his usual intimidating force against Indiana in Saturday's semis and has never been bested underneath in his two-year varsity career.

Chris Evert beats Russian at Akron

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., stroked her way to her second tour victory since turning professional by defeating Russian Olga Morozova, 6-3, 6-4 Sunday to win the $25,000

The match turned quickly in Chris' favor when she broke Mrs. Morozova's serve with a love game in the fourth game of the opening set. Again the second set she made a crucial break in the third game.

"Her serve is so tough, I thought the match depended on the service break," Chris said after her victory. "I played well, I had to play well to beat her. It was so close. It was a matter of who could break the other's serve."

Mrs. Morozova repeatedly tried to come to the net and met with some success. But Chris lobbed and passed her for several key points.

"She played well," Olga said. "I am not so confident on the baseline, so I came to the net. I thought I played well."

On her way to the championship, Chris defeated Sian Stup, Deerfield, Ill., and Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia, as well as the giant killer of the tournament, Marita Redondo of National City, Calif.

The awards will be presented at the GWAA's annual meeting April 4 in Augusta, Ga., on the eve of the Masters.

Hogan, who now lives in Fort Worth, Tex., where he is involved in the production of golf equipment, is the 26th recipient of the Richardson Award, named in memory of New York Times writer William D. Richardson, who died in 1947.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Virginia Tech's Bobby Stevens hit a 30-foot jump shot from the right side of the basket as the buzzer sounded to give the Gobblers a 92-91 overtime upset over Notre Dame Sunday in the finals of the 36th National Invitation Tournament.

With 10 seconds remaining and Tech trailing 91-90, Notre Dame's Gary Brokaw was fouled by Tech's Charley Thomas but the 6-foot-3 guard missed the first of a 1-and-1 situation and Tech's Allan Bristow grabbed the rebound. Tech then called time out with 12 seconds left in the overtime period.

Ed Frazier in bounded the ball to Stevens, who shot with five seconds remaining. Stevens missed the shot but 5-foot-10 guard then grabbed his own rebound and put-the-ball-in the air with one second remaining.

The buzzer sounded while the ball was in the air and it then swished through as the crowd of 13,103 went wild.

Stevens hit seven of his 17 points during the five-minute overtime period and had made a three-point play with 43 seconds remaining to bring the Gobblers within one at 91-90. They were all going in at the end. Stevens said as he was mobbed by well-wishers on the floor. "I just let them go."

The Gobblers tied the game 79-79 when Craig Lieder hit a 30-foot jumper with one second left in regulation time. Notre Dame led 78-77 with 32 seconds remaining in regulation when Bristow fouled Brokaw. Brokaw made the first shot in a one-and-one situation to make it 79-77. Then he made the second but Peter Crotty stepped in the lane and the point—which turned out to cost Notre Dame the game—was disallowed.

Bristow was fouled by Willie Townsend with 23 seconds remaining in regulation play but missed in a 1-and-1 foul situation and Brokaw grabbed the rebound. Thirteen seconds later after a scramble for the ball under the Notre Dame basket, the referees, Hal Grossman and Joe DeBonis, who had given several controversial calls to the Irish, called a jump ball between Frazier and Dwight Clay.

Stevens grabbed the ball and brought the ball across the midcourt line and called a timeout with five seconds left. Frazier then passed the ball in bounds to Stevens, who gave the ball to Lieder for his desperate game-tying jumper. Crotty and Bristow exchanged baskets in overtime before John Schmitz, the tourney MVP, sank two free throws and Brokaw hit a jumper to give Notre Dame a four point lead at 93-91 with 2.57 left in the overtime.

With the score 97-93, Stevens hit the first of his seven overtime points with 1:53 remaining to cut the deficit to 97-95.

Brokaw hit a layup with 1:46 to go and Willie Townsend fouled Bristow with 1:07 left. Bristow made his first foul shots of the day to pull the Gobblers within two at 99-97.

With 1:45 left, Stevens hit a three-point play to give the Gobblers a 102-97 lead. Bristow fouled Townsend with 1:33 left and Townsend hit a three-point play to give the Irish a 100-102 lead.

With 1:23 left, Stevens hit another three-point play to give the Gobblers a 105-102 lead. Bristow fouled Townsend with 1:13 left and Townsend hit a three-point play to give the Irish a 108-105 lead.

Notre Dame's Gary Brokaw was fouled by Tech's Charley Thomas but the 6-foot-3 guard missed the first of a 1-and-1 situation to make it 79-77. Then he made the second but Peter Crotty stepped in the lane and the point—which turned out to cost Notre Dame the game—was disallowed.

Bristow was fouled by Willie Townsend with 23 seconds remaining in regulation when Bristow fouled Brokaw. Brokaw made the first shot in a one-and-one situation to make it 79-77. Then he made the second but Peter Crotty stepped in the lane and the point—which turned out to cost Notre Dame the game—was disallowed.

Briskow was fouled by Willie Townsend with 23 seconds remaining in regulation when Bristow fouled Brokaw. Brokaw made the first shot in a one-and-one situation to make it 79-77. Then he made the second but Peter Crotty stepped in the lane and the point—which turned out to cost Notre Dame the game—was disallowed.

Hie-Nastase places first

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Colorful Bill Nastase, having renounced his recent temper tantrums, wore down top-seeded Jimmy Connors Sunday and won the $2,000 first prize in the Equity Funding tennis tournament here, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1.

The 27-year-old Romanian, after dropping the close fourth set, ran up a 4-0 margin in the final set before Connors, the top-money-winner on the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association tour, won two games and then faltered.

BARTOW might prefer an alternate approach against the Bruins, but he feels it's too late now to change anything. His team's strength is inside with 6-9 Larry Kenon and 6-8 Ronnie Robinson and he has to sink or swim with them.

Bartow is certain of one thing. If his team tries to run with UCLA like they did against Providence they're again.

"Any one who runs with UCLA is going to lose," says Bartow. "You can't get into a run-shoot-run game with UCLA and win. No. 15, not the Celtics, not anybody."

John Wooden, coach of UCLA, isn't so sure the Tiers won't come out running.

Wooden said he was impressed by Memphis State and the way it handled Providence.

Larry Finch, the Tigers leading scorer this season, summed up the players' feelings:

"We're here now and we can't wait to play UCLA. I just wish it were Sunday instead of Monday night."

DETROIT tops hapless 76ers

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers completed the worst season in National Basketball Association history Sunday night by dropping a 115-96 decision to the Detroit Pistons.

The loss was the 73rd in 82 starts for the 76ers, the highest number of defeats in league history. The 76ers also wound up with a 109 percentage—the lowest winning percentage in league history. Their nine wins were the least ever recorded since the circuit went into an 82 game schedule. Only six wins by Providence in the 1947-48 campaign were lower.

"She played well," Olga said. "I am not so confident on the baseline, so I came to the net. I thought I played well."

On her way to the championship, Chris defeated Sian Stup, Deerfield, Ill., and Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia, as well as the giant killer of the tournament, Marita Redondo of National City, Calif.

The victory moves Chris into second place in earnings on the United States Lawn Tennis Association women's prize money tour. The leader is Virginia Wade, who suffered an arm injury and withdrew from the Akron tourney. Chris was second-seeded in the tournament.

BRISTOL, Tenn. (UPI) — Chris Yarborough drove a 1973 Chevrolet to a runaway victory Sunday in the Southeastern 800 at Bristol International Speedway, leading all 500 laps.

Yarborough, scoring his first victory at this speedway, was in command from the start and took the checkered flag more than two laps ahead of Richard Petty's 1073 Dodge.

Yarborough, from Monroeville, S.C., averaged 80.952 MPH in the rain-delayed event.
